How to make money in London's property rental market

This is an open invitation to come and learn how you can succeed in the London rental property market.

We are hosting an exclusive Investors Cocktail Reception on Wednesday, 7th May

at the Landmark Mandarin Oriental Hotel

from 6.30pm

You will learn where the property hot spots are right now and how to attract the best tenants. There will also be other companies present on the night including Property Hunt who provide a specialist property search service for investors; de Vere Partners, the world's largest independent wealth managers plus LloydsTSB, a leader in the field of international mortgages.

This is a FREE event but they have proven very popular before, so please book your place now to avoid disappointment by contacting Jennie Wallace at our Hong Kong office today on 2537 5443 or e-mail: hongkong@brlets.com

Benham & Reeves - Residential investment specialists for 50 years

If you are considering buying a London property for investment purposes, you will want to know how much rental income you can get.

Most real estate agents have a vested interest in telling you the absolute maximum figure you are likely to get in rental income because they want you to buy their property.

At Benham & Reeves all we do is lettings. We do not sell properties. So we have every reason to give you a realistic estimate of the rental income you might get for your property.

And we have been doing it for 50 years.
